India to lead BIMSTEC security pillar

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE seven-nation BIMSTEC on Wednesday adopted an important charter and a connectivity roadmap while entrusting India with the responsibility of helming its security pillar.

The charter was the biggest takeaway. "With the charter, BIMSTEC now has an international personality, it has an emblem, it has a flag, it has formally listed purpose and principles that it is going to adhere to and an architecture," said additional secretary BIMSTEC, Rudrendra Tandon.

The fifth summit of the Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (BIMSTEC) also approved a proposal to revamp its activities. "Henceforth, BIMSTEC cooperation activities will take place in seven pillars. Each pillar will be led by one of the member states. India will lead the security pillar," said Tandon.

The seven nations in BIMSTEC are India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Myanmar, Nepal, Sri Lanka and Thailand. It brings together 1.5 billion people, which comprises 21% of the world population and a combined GDP of over $2.5 trillion.

India has been making conscious efforts to make BIMSTEC a vibrant regional forum. It feels security and counter terrorism are issues that must be addressed collectively.

"The recent developments in Europe have raised questions about the stability of the international order," Prime Minister Narendra Modi said in his address. He announced a $1-million ad-hoc grant for the operational budget for the BIMSTEC secretariat and another $3 million assistance to revive its centre for weather and climate.

The group finalised three documents to facilitate having a Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty, setting up a centre for technology transfer in Colombo and providing for cooperation among diplomatic academies of the member nations.

Modi spoke about the need to move forward the connectivity, disaster management, marine cooperation, economic integration and security agendas.

State govt keen to increase quota beyond 50%, says Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE state government is open to increasing the reservation to SC/STs and other backward classes and go beyond the limit of 50 per cent. The government is seeking a legal opinion to find out if there is a provision in the Indira Sahani verdict to increase the threshold of 50 per cent, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said on Wednesday.

Earlier in the day, some MLAs in the Assembly raised the issue of increasing the quota for SC/STs and other backward classes. Replying, the chief minister said there is a demand to increase the Scheduled Tribe quota to 7.5 per cent. Earlier when the state government tried a similar exercise, the quota exceeded the stipulated 50 per cent, and the Supreme Court had rejected it. Later, the Justice Nagamohan Committee was constituted to look into the issue. In 2020, the committee submitted its final report recommending an increase in the reservation for SCs from the existing 15 per cent to 17 per cent and for STs from 3 per cent to 7.5 per cent.

Bommai said that many organisations and communities are demanding a change in their quota status -- from 2A to Schedule Tribe and from 3B to 2A. The Union government, too, has sought the opinion of various states in increasing the quota. "We have informed the Centre that as the population has increased, the quota too should go up beyond 50 per cent. The Nagmohan Das commission has also recommended it. We have constituted the Justice Subhash Adi Committee to look into demands of various organisations which have demanded a change in their quota status," Bommai said.

When Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah pointed out that the Indra Sawhney judgement had limited reservation to 50 per cent, Bommai said he has written to the advocate general to look into special circumstances, through which they can go over the 50 per cent threshold. The government has also asked the Justice Adi committee to submit an interim report. "We will place these proposals before the all-party meeting and take it forward. We want to go beyond 50 per cent reservation, but do it as per the Constitution. If needed, we will go to both Houses," he added.

Tongues wag as sulking Shivpal meets CM Yogi

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

SHIVPAL Singh Yadav, the sulking younger brother of Samajwadi Party patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav, on Wednesday met Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, triggering speculation of realignment of political forces.

The development comes amid widening rift between Shivpal, who won the recent Assembly election from Jaswantnagar in Etawah on SP symbol, and his nephew and SP chief Akhilesh Yadav.

After Shivpal took his oath office as an MLA of the Uttar Pradesh Assembly, he proceeded to Yogi's official residence and the two leaders were closeted for about 20 minutes. When reporters asked Shivpal whether he intends to join the BJP, he did not refute it, merely saying that he had already taken the oath of the House and did not want to say more than that for now.

For the record, Shivpal's Pragatisheel Samajwadi Party-Lohia termed it a "courtesy call" to greet Yogi on his victory and return to power in Uttar Pradesh.

IMRAN'S FATE SEALED AS KEY ALLY BOLTS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IMRAN Khan's ouster as Pakistan Prime Minister is now just a matter of formality with one more ally joining the ranks of the Opposition ahead of Sunday's no-confidence motion. Khan effectively lost majority in Parliament after the Muttahida Qaumi Movement-Pakistan (MQM-P), a key ally of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI)-led coalition government, announced that it has parted ways with the government.

"We want to make a new beginning for politics of tolerance and true democracy," MQM-P chief Khalid Maqbool Siddiqui said on Wednesday, adding, "I announce to support the Opposition in Parliament." MQM-P has seven MPs.

Another ally of the ruling coalition, the Balochistan Awami Party with five MPs, had already said it had "accepted the Opposition's invitation" to vote against Khan.

Seeing the writing on the wall, Khan cancelled his address to the nation that was scheduled to take place on Wednesday. Earlier in the day, Pakistan Army chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa and Inter-Services Intelligence head Lt Gen. Nadeem Anjum met Khan and reportedly told him to quit or face the consequences.

In the 342-member lower house, Khan needs 172 votes to foil the Opposition's bid to topple him. Pakistan's Opposition parties have already claimed to have the support of 175 lawmakers.

Opposition leader and Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz president Shehbaz Sharif is tipped to be the next PM after removal of 69-year-old Khan.

Khan's PTI has 155 members in the National Assembly. At least two dozen lawmakers and allied parties are likely to vote against Khan on April 3.

Pawar card in play to head UPA

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AMID Congress humiliation in the recent elections and nagging questions about its ability to lead the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) any longer, the NCP is aggressively pushing the candidature of its patriarch Sharad Pawar as the head of the front. The process gathered steam with Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut on Wednesday saying Pawar has the ability to bring all non-BJP parties together ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha polls.

At present, Congress president Sonia Gandhi is the UPA chairperson. The head of the grouping would automatically be its prime ministerial candidate, though Sonia gave it up in favour of Manmohan Singh.

The NCP's youth wing had in a recent meeting in Delhi adopted a resolution to make Sharad Pawar the chairperson of the UPA. The resolution significantly was passed in the presence of Pawar.

KCOCA court convicts 12, including Bananje Raja, in Nayak murder case

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Control of Organised Crimes Act (KCOCA) court in Belagavi on Wednesday convicted nine out of 12 accused, including the notorious underworld don Bananje Raja alias Rajendra Kumar (54), in a nine-year-old murder case of BJP leader RN Nayak at Ankola. This is the first conviction in a KCOCA case in Karnataka.

Nayak was murdered at the height of extortion racket in coastal Karnataka. Bananje was named as an accused in the case after the investigation revealed that he had made extortion calls to Nayak and the latter had refused to give in. Bananje had allegedly hired the sharpshooters from Uttar Pradesh to execute the contract killing. He was arrested in Casa Blanca in February 2015 and extradited to India in August that year. He was brought to Karnataka by a police team led by then Additional Director General of Police (ADGP), Law & Order, Pratap Reddy, and the present Tamil Nadu BJP leader and former IPS officer Annamalai, who was the investigating officer.

Reddy was the then inspector general of police, Western range when Nayak was murdered. He had supervised the investigation from the beginning. DG&IGP Praveen Sood called the investigation "outstanding" and congratulated Reddy, the investigation, court monitoring and prosecution teams for their meticulous and scientific investigation in the high-profile murder case, which resulted in the conviction of the accused under the stringent Act.

Akash alias Vivek Kumar Upadhaya (A1) was shot dead by the security guard of Nayak and police constable Ramesh Gowda when he was trying to flee after the assassination. CONTINUED ON: P5

Yelahanka reported the highest cases, while Bengaluru North recorded the lowest

Over 365 acres of encroached govt land recovered

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Urban District administration has recovered 365.36 acres of government encroached land in the period from June 31, 2021 to March 25, 2022 said Bengaluru Urban DC, J Manjunath on Wednesday.

A total of 332 properties have been recovered in 22 cases worth Rs 1,49,67,87,000, in five taluks- Bengaluru North, South, East, Yelahanka and Anekal.

Most of the encroachments were reported from Yelahanka - 119 cases comprising 117.35 acres and the lowest were in Bengaluru North recording 13 cases across 14 acres. Also 10.17 acres of Kharab land of 23 incidents, 58.34 acres of Gomal land in 39 incidents, 24 acres of plantation and burial lands in 57 cases have been recovered.

Manjunath said that clearing encroachments is an ongoing affair, but the challenge is in maintaining them and ensuring that there is no recurrence. While in some places, plantation works is being taken up, other spaces are being utilised for setting up hospitals, schools, medical health centres, colleges, solid waste management plants and other public utility spaces.

"If the land is left unattended, re-encroachment is again a challenge. So we have decided to use it for public services. Encroachments cleared over the period are of various types- agriculture, land grabbers putting up temporary sheds, commercial spaces, slums and residential spaces," he said.

Apart from this, the administration has also cleared encroachment on 215 lakes and reclaimed 272 acres. The administration has decided not to attach a notional value to the ecological asset.

In case of lake encroachment, a deep trench is dug once it is cleared, after the buffer zone is defined and identified. "We are also concentrating on clearing the drain network. In Anekal work on supplying 110 mld treated water from Koramanagala- Chellaghatta valley to 69 lakes is being done. Similarly, reviving 51 lakes in east taluk is also being done," he said. Officials in the DC office said focus at the moment was given on Anekal taluk as there are many lakes, vacant lands and scope for improvement. However, cases of encroachment and urbanisation are more in Yelahanka where the land value is soaring. Cases are less in north Bengaluru, despite land value being highest, because of space scarcity and it is parched.

Area	Incidents	Acres cleared

Govt school students to get transport: Nagesh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Primary and secondary education minister BC Nagesh on Wednesday said that several partnerships are being signed with private companies to provide vehicles to ferry students of government schools.

The minister was speaking in reference to Canara Bank donating two Maruti eco mini vans to the Department of Education as part of their corporate social responsibility initiative on Tuesday.

It is a vital collaboration between private and community players, Nagesh said, and the government to improve facilities, especially for the government schools. In this connection, multiple initiatives have been undertaken under the School Development and Monitoring Committee (SDMC).

The introduction of transport vehicles to help students reach schools is also part of a larger initiative to develop government model schools in the state.

He said that government schools, especially in rural areas, that have a proper building, and facilities like a playground, computer lab and others, will be selected as model schools.

Priority will be given to hire teachers to improve the quality of education, he said, and added that to encourage children to enrol in these schools, transport will be provided through the vehicles donated by the private players.

"The aim is to improve the quality of education in government schools in the state, make teachers available for all languages and subjects, promote competitiveness among children, and make full use of infrastructure," he said.

He invited private companies, associations and organisations to collaborate with the government for funding transport or developing schools.

Transformer checks stepped up after deaths

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

After being pulled up by the Karnataka High Court and the state government over the death of two persons from transformer blast, the officials of Bangalore Electricity Supply Corporation Limited (Bescom) have started an extensive survey of all the transformers and their condition.

According to Bescom officials, there are around 5,000 transformers in the Bengaluru jurisdiction, and 4,20,935 under Bescom limits covering the eight districts.

Officials state that they do not have an exact figure of how many are repaired, refurbished, those whose life period has expired, and how many more need maintenance, as it is an ongoing exercise.

"We also undertake an annual audit of the transformers and the report is prepared in April. The exercise of the survey is done during March and April. During this time, the assessment of how many need to be replaced is also accounted for. But due to the recent casualties, the exercise of checking has been intensified," said a senior Bescom official. There are 25KV, 63KV, 100KV, 250KV and 500KV transformers in the Bescom limits. Officials said that the age of transformers are from five years to 25 years, but more than the age, the load handled and the how often repair and maintenance is done is also equally crucial.

LONG QUEUES AT POST OFFICES POST TWO-DAY STRIKE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SERPENTINE queues were seen outside of major post offices in Bengaluru today due to the cascading effect of the two-day nationwide strike on Monday and Tuesday, ensuring that availing any service took hours.

The National Federation of Postal Employees and National Union of Postal Employees took part in the strike which covered 60 per cent of the staff in Bengaluru Region (Bengaluru Urban, Bengaluru Rural and Channapatna) taking part. Most who took part joined work today.

While a senior postal employee claimed that there were no complaints from public, the long queues and experience of visitors gave a contradictory picture. Krithika S, employed in a private firm, who wanted to send a parcel had to wait for 1.5 hours at the Rajaji Nagar post office.

LK Dash, Postmaster General of the region told TNIE that a majority of the 231 small POs in the region were shut. "All the eight Head POs in the region were open while major POs including those in Indira Nagar, Jayanagar, Basavanagudi, Rajaji Nagar, Yelahanka and Yesvantpur were open. We managed operations, particularly the Speed Post sections, with a skeletal staff," he said. Chief Postmaster General, Karnataka Circle, Rajendra S Kumar said that 35 per cent of the POs in North Karnataka and 20 per cent in South Karnataka were hit.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

31st March : A lively Moon provides a powerful energy boost. All we have to do is use it. If you want to stay in bed all day, that's your right. However, if you want to get the most out of the day, you may find that you achieve far more than expected. This lunar alignment says that we should take the lead. Well, we can't all do that at the same time! But we can make more of an effort to co-operate!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Think carefully before settling anything of any importance over the next few days. It's time to face important, long-term questions involving professional and personal matters, together with all those issues concerning your material security and finances.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Discipline and self-control will be vital in all matters of communication. In other words, marshal your arguments and prepare your case with great care. Other people will be persuaded by the facts and nothing else, so your natural charm may not be enough.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The Moon is now acting as a private planet, drawing you towards a sentimental view of your home and family background. There is little pressure from the planets for you to do anything that goes against your wishes, especially if it's likely to cost you money!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You have to demand only the highest standards from yourself. Don't expect others to back off or modify their demands. You must attempt to live up to all challenges and surmount every obstacle, no matter how imposing or off-putting they seem. Nothing less will do.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You now have the perfect opportunity, not to mention the time, to decide what your next move should be. With so much happening behind the scenes, though, you may complain that you have too many choices. But, then, it seems that some people are never happy, are they?

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Few can manage finances like a Virgo, and now that the Moon is heading towards a part of your chart closely connected to your prosperity, you can be sure that a question of family security will be raising its head once again. It's also a suitable sociable moment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Although you may have to give others the benefit of the doubt, this does not mean that they are right. It may be that you are, very sensibly, concerned to avoid a pointless and frivolous conflict. But make sure that you're not just afraid to face up to the truth.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Lunar alignments in emotional regions of the sky are making you feel better. You will cope perfectly with all around you, even when they seem intent on raising objections or saying that it can't be done. You suspect that they don't really understand what you want - and you may be right.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Jupiter is the planet which normally offers you fabulous freedom of action. But right now this remarkable celestial body is about to feel the pressure of that belligerent planet, Mars, seriously curtailing your available options. You'll have to drop irrelevant sidelines and press ahead with what is really important.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You're still shaken by recent emotional confrontations but, as next weekend approaches, a new set of powerful patterns is about to blow you off course. Seize the chance to sail into uncharted waters, and invite a close partner to join you - if they're willing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your financial stars are looking relatively healthy, so you have little to worry about on that score. It is spiritual and metaphysical questions which are uppermost at the present moment. That's why you have to raise your sights a little higher than perhaps they have been recently.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The stars are in a touchy mood, and there must have been several occasions recently when you came close to throwing in the towel. If you stay the course, I know that you'll be glad in the end. But you are wondering whether somebody else is really up to the challenge.

Long Covid symptoms show up in kids as cough, asthma

Symptoms persist even after medication; Docs advise in-depth study

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

PAEDIATRICIANS are reporting an increase in children coming to them with continuous cough which refuses to go away, even after two to three months of medication. Some of them have even turned asthmatic.

Doctors say that a majority of these cases are children who have been infected with Covid-19 in the recent past. Doctors feel that Long Covid symptoms in children have to be taken seriously, and need in-depth study.

Dr Srikanta JT, Consultant - Paediatric Interventional Pulmonology and Sleep Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital, said, "Post Covid, particularly the Omicron wave, have seen prolonged cough syndrome, with hacking cough persisting for months," he said.

Meanwhile, Dr Rajath Athreaya, Senior Consultant and HOD Paediatrics and Neonatology, Sakra World Hospital, says, "We have seen MIS-c which is an inflammatory condition post Covid in mild and severe forms. Other Long Covid symptoms we are seeing are prolonged headaches, difficulty in concentrating, brain fog, prolonged cough and fevers, and some neurological manifestations like tics." Dr Srikanta said there is an increase in allergic tendencies in children.

"There are many children who never had any history of asthma who have turned asthmatic, and we had to counsel parents," he said.

The doctors say this is mostly anecdotal and observational data which shows that these children had contracted Covid in the recent past. They claim there is not enough data to support it. "While Long Covid symptoms in adults being much talked about, research papers being published, treatment planned, symptoms in children also need attention. Some countries like the UK have 'Long Covid Kids', an organisation which supports and spreads awareness among children with these symptoms. Such support and awareness is needed for parents," said Dr Gopikrishna N, paediatrician, Seva Kshetra Hospital.

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE full bench of the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday ruled that the criminal appeal under Section 21 of the NIA Act is not maintainable against the order passed by the Special Court under Section 20 of the Act, rejecting the interlocutory application filed by an accused seeking a transfer of the case for offences under the UAPA, from special curt to regular court.

RAHUL, HM VISITS PUSH STATE INTO POLL MODE

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Tumakuru/Bengaluru

WHEN Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah of BJP arrive in Karnataka in quick succession to pay tributes to Sri Shivakumar Swamiji at Siddaganga Mutt in Tumakuru on Thursday and Friday, it will be a sign that the campaigning for the state Assembly polls in 2023 has been formally launched Interestingly, no national leader had come when the Swamiji passed away on January 21, 2019 as they had just sent condolence messages. The line-up of top leaders now is a clear indication that they want to appease the majority community in the state ahead of the polls.

Rahul will visit the mutt at 4 pm on Thursday and spend an hour. Shah will arrive at 10.55 am on Friday and take part in a two-hour-long event addressing a gathering of two lakh people. Shah's visit was pre-scheduled and he will fly to Tumakuru, while Rahul's visit was reportedly fixed in a hurry and he will travel by road. The roads leading to the mutt have been decked up with BJP's publicity material, while Rahul's posters appear here and there.

Former CM BS Yediyurappa's son BY Vijayendra, who is the reception committee chief of Shah's event, is supervising arrangements. With Yediyurappa chairing the event and Vijayendra expected to deliver the introductory remarks, the event is expected to send a clear message that the platform is to launch Vijayendra as the successor to Yediyurappa as the Lingayat leader.

AICC general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala, Lingayat community leaders -- KPCC campaign committee chairman MB Patil and working president Eshwar Khandre – visited the mutt on Wednesday to oversee preparations.

The visit of two VVIPs has also kept the police busy. Central Range IGP Chandrashekar has already camped in Tumakuru.

Rahul's itinerary

To arrive in Bengaluru on Thursday and visit Siddaganga Mutt to pay his tributes to Sri Shivakumara Swamiji at 4 pm

Return to Bengaluru and stay overnight

Attend Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee executive meeting at 11 am on Friday and meet organisation leaders at 2 pm

No one from AAP has approached me: Kimmane

MARX TEJASWI @ Shivamogga

FOLLOWING reports that the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), after its successful win in Punjab recently, is eying former minister and Congress leader Kimmane Ratnakar and other leaders with "clean image" in Karnataka, Ratnakar said that he is aware of the development. However, he clarified that nobody from AAP has approached him. There are unconfirmed reports that the AAP is approaching leaders in the state ahead of the 2023 Assembly polls. The list reportedly includes a former Lokayukta, retired IPS and KAS officers and legislators.

Ratnkar told TNIE that he is aware of the development. "I have not received any such offer nor I am planning to go in that direction. But, I am aware of reports that the party is planning to strengthen itself under the leadership of a former Lokayukta," he said. Ratnakar, who is eying a Congress ticket from Thirthahalli, is facing a stiff competition from his rival in the same party R M Manjunath Gowda, who is a former president of Shivamogga DCC Bank.

Ratnakar suspects that somebody might have floated such rumours to give a threat to corrupt people in all parties that leaders with good image in those parties have an alternative too. He said some people, to gauge the public reaction, might have floated his name as well as the names of other leaders.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said the government is focused on development and not on communal issues. "There are only wings of growth in our government... there is no right wing or left wing," he said. He, however, did not directly answer questions related to ongoing controversies like halal meat and non-Hindu vendors doing business near temples.

At many places, local temple authorities and right-wing organisations have called for a ban on non-Hindu vendors doing business near temple premises, and banning them at temple fairs. Some organisations have also called for a ban on halal meat. Responding to media questions, the CM said the BJP government is interested in peace, development and security for the common man. Bommai also said that several organisations keep banning various things. "We know what to respond to, and what not to respond to. Whichever subject requires a response, we will respond to it," he said. "The halal issue is not new. Now, serious objections have been raised and we will look into that." Asked if it will impact law and order in the state, he said they will not allow it to cause problems.

On writers and intellectuals writing to Bommai, appealing to allow girls to write exams wearing the hijab, and allow non-Hindu vendors to do business near temples, Bommai said he has not seen the content. "In the coming days, we work how to resolve it," he said.

FAST FORWARD

Bommai said his government is bringing in quick changes. Earlier, after the budget was passed on March 31, it would take two to three months to prepare proposals to implement schemes and projects, which would be further delayed by the finance department. Actual work would start only in September, but now, the chief secretary has already had three or four meetings, and will give finance approval in the next few weeks.

Renewable energy policy gets cabinet nod

BENGALURU: The State cabinet on Wednesday approved the Karnataka Renewable Energy Policy 2022-27, that will give a boost to the proposal of the Karnataka Renewable Energy Development Limited (KREDL) to generate 10gigawatt of renewable energy, up from the present 6,000MW. It also gave administrative approval for a DPR of a greenfield domestic airport at Raichur at an estimated cost of Rs 185.57 crore. The government also guaranteed Karnataka Water Supply and Drainage Board to receive Rs 125 crore as loan from Internal & Extra Budgetary Resources (IEBR). Setting up of a Centre for Excellence in Smart Agriculture at an estimated cost of Rs 51.20 crore with 60:40 ratio at the University of Agricultural Sciences (UAS), Dharwad, extending the term of the SIT set-up under Lokayukta to probe illegal quarries for another year, have also been cleared. Bengaluru's Nrupatunga University will get Rs 55 crore for the construction of a new building and purchase of equipment, and the government will take over the 200-bed Koosamma Shambushetty Memorial Haji Abdullah Mother and Child Hospital. Construction of a district hospital at Rs 99.93 crore, a Rs 15-crore project for constructing a new administrative taluk office at Hiriyur in Chitradurga district and implementation of a lift irrigation project for Rs 11 crore on the river Bhima for Hagaragundagi tank in Kalaburagi district also got administrative approval.

Help bridge communal divide, delegation urges Pejavar seer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Udupi

THE Udupi District Sauharda Samiti, led by Haji K Abubakker Athrady who is also the honorary president of the Consumer Forum, Parkala, and other like-minded people, met Sri Vishwaprasanna Theertha Swamiji of Sri Pejavar Mutt here on Wednesday, and requested that he help resolve the row involving pro-Hindu organisations seeking a ban on Muslim traders operating businesses near temples during annual fairs.

Highlighting Udupi's communal harmony, Abubakker said that for several decades, Muslim traders were earning a livelihood by putting up stalls at temple fairs, festivals and religious events, and maintained cordial relations with the Hindu community. Awareness in this regard is essential and it is important to uphold the message of communal harmony, he said, seeking the seer's support in restoring the same.

However, the seer reportedly could not commit full support, saying it is the people from the grassroots in society who are reacting to the pain inflicted on them by some. "So, if some of us (the pontiffs, religious leaders) say anything, the society may not fully approve of it in this matter. At this juncture of trust deficit, cooperation from all sides will resolve the rift between the two communities," he said, adding that the wrongs cannot be righted by one community. However, he assured sincere efforts to ensure that society remained united and inclusive.

The delegation submits a letter to Sri Vishwaprasanna Theertha Swamiji of Sri Pejavar Mutt in Udupi on Wednesday

Bopaiah writes to CM, cites law on vendors

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as the communal temperature in Karnataka is rising with the hijab, halal, Muslim hawkers and other issues, former Speaker and Virajpet MLA K G Bopaiah has written to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, urging the state government to ensure that spaces in and around Hindu temples be leased or rented out only to Hindu traders. He quoted relevant sections of the law, including rule 31(12) of the Karnataka Hindu Religious Institutions and Charitable Endowments Act, 2002, which states that no property, including land, building or site, situated near the institution, can be leased to non-Hindus.

In letters to Bommai and Muzrai Minister Shashikala Jolle, Bopaiah reminded them that these spaces belong to Hindus and should not, therefore, be given to persons following other faiths or from other religious backgrounds.

It may be recalled that Vinay Sreenivasa, office-bearer of the Street Vendors and Hawkers Association, and others have urged the government and CM not to allow for communalisation of the hawking profession and community.

The Congress and JDS have also slammed the BJP's efforts to communalise the state. Congress leaders Siddaramaiah, DK Shivakumar and JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy have individually urged people not to fall prey to attempts to communalise the state. Congress leaders said this daily dose of aggressive communalisation will continue until the 2023 elections in Karnataka, after which there will be peace for a few years.

Bommai: Poll reform debate will be filed to trigger people to think

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

APPRECIATING Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri's decision to take up a discussion on elections reforms in the Assembly, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said the suggestions coming out of the debate will be documented to provoke the thinking of people, especially the youth.

"Democracy has succeeded despite Tamil Nadu's concept of the nation and Punjab and Jammu Kashmir nursing their own ideas. The transfer of power has been graceful, unlike after the recent US polls," he said.

The nexus between corporate houses and political parties is not new and it existed even during the pre-Independence era when Mahatma Gandhi had a cordial relationship with Bajaj Group. "After Independence, when the license raj prevailed, only a few companies could get licences to set up industries. Later parties started collecting funds from them," he said.

Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah insisted that political parties raising funds through electoral bonds should be stopped to check the nexus between corporate bodies and governments. The nexus is leading to commercial mafia ruling the roost. "Like appointing judges, a collegium should be set to appoint the election commission chief and its members," he said.

Expressing his suspicion over electronic voting machines, he held the Election Commission of India responsible for over 19 lakh missing EVMs.

BK Hariprasad raises objection

Opposition Leader in the Council BK Hariprasad took exception to the statement of Assembly Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri on election reforms. Government chief whip YA Narayanaswamy had circulated a copy of a book that contained the speech made by Kageri on election reforms. As it was not listed in the business, Hariprasad said it was against the rules. Further, he alleged that the national flag was misused in the book as the picture of an EVM was printed on the flag. "This amounts to a violation of the National Flag Code," he alleged.

Hindus, Muslims celebrate jathra in Bidar together

SUNIL PATIL
@Belagavi

IN what can be described as a great display of religious brotherhood and bonhomie, a large number of Hindus and Muslims joined to celebrate the famous Hindu fair, Ashtur jathra, in Bidar, that too at a time when attempts are being made to keep Muslims away from religious fairs in the state.

The Hindu devotees offered prayers to Allama Prabhu, while Muslims to paid obeisance to Ahmed Shah Wali. Both prayers and poojas were done at the same spot in Ashtur.

What made this three-day Hindu-Muslim jathra special this time is its celebration after a gap of two Covid-hit years. A large number of people from all religions took part in the cultural events, deepotsava and music shows organised during the fair that ended on Wednesday.

People gather to witness community programmes during Ashtur jathra in Bidar

Several devotees who thronged Ashtur near Bidar, where the fair is held, feel it is a great annual feature which brings Hindus and Muslims together. "Irrespective of their religions, caste and creed, the people offer prayers at the same place. There's no discrimination between devotees and not at all at a time when attempts are being made to disturb the age-old tradition of jathras. Prasad is accepted by both Hindus and Muslims and the devotees participate in bhajans, kawalis, pravachans and all rituals of the jahtra," says an ardent devotee of the jathra.

The devotees offer naivedya and fruits to the grave of Hazrat Sultan Ahmed Shah Wali and also to Allama Prabhu Devaru. Devotees believe that the jathra also marks the birthday of Hazrat Sultan Ahmed Shah Wali. The crowd was huge as the fair was being held after a gap of two years due to the Covid pandemic.

A private company owned by Mirza Beg from Telangana made arrangements to e ntertain children, while several cultural events were also organised. The deepotsava was the highlight of the fair, followed by bhajans and qawwalis performed by noted musicians. All through the three nights, the devotees participated in various events, rituals and cultural extravaganza.

A DRAVIDIAN VISIT

Will meet PM to raise TN issues, says Stalin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THE newly-built party office in Delhi, set for inauguration on April 2, is a symbol of DMK's indispensable space in national politics, party president and Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin said on Wednesday.

The CM, during his three-day visit to New Delhi from March 31 till April 2, will be meeting Prime Minister Narendra Modi and senior Union Ministers on the first day and interact with leaders of opposition parties over the next two days.

In a letter to DMK cadres on Wednesday titled "The Dravidian Fort that rises in National Capital New Delhi", the CM said he will meet the PM regarding funds due for Tamil Nadu, State's central tax share dues, funds for flood relief and restoration work.

Based on the Union Government's announcement that land would be given to parties that have more than seven members in Parliament, the DMK was given land in New Delhi in 2013.

Recalling the history of DMK headquarters Anna Arivalayam in Chennai and how he was engaged in collecting funds for building it, the DMK chief said, "Now a similar Dravidian fort has been established in Delhi. It is a three-storey building designed as per Dravidian architecture and has all the facilities for a party office."

Stalin recalled that DMK founder Aringar Anna wanted every branch of the party to have own office buildings across Tamil Nadu and wanted to stay there during his visits to meet party office-bearers instead of staying at a hotel.

Over a period of time, in many districts, the DMK has built its own offices and now, another Arivalayam has risen in the national capital, the CM said.

Survivor, state govt file appeal against Bishop Franco's acquittal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

THE survivor in the nun rape case and the state government on Wednesday approached the Kerala High Court seeking to quash the order of the Kottayam Additional District and Sessions Court acquitting Bishop Franco Mulakkal from the case.

In its appeal, the state government argued that the evidence given by the survivor, corroborated by the deposition of several witnesses and the documentary evidence, proved the nun was subjected to unnatural offence and rape by the former head of the Latin Catholic diocese of Jalandhar. The nun was then the mother superior of St Francis Mission Home, Kuravilangad, and the accused wielded power and control over the home.

The presence of the accused on the days when the rape and sexual assault occurred was proved by the prosecution by documentary evidence. "Without appreciating the evidence of the prosecution in the correct perspective, the trial court misconstrued facts and law and gave unwarranted acquittal to the accused, absolving him from the charges including rape," the petition stated. The prosecution alleged the survivor was raped 13 times from May 5, 2014, to September 23, 2016.

Video of manual scavenging at DC's office goes viral

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Gadag

IN a video that went viral on social media, a man was found entering a septic tank on the Deputy Commissioner's office premises in Gadag without any safety equipment.

Another man was helping him. The incident was reported around 3 pm on Tuesday in the backside area of the DC's office.

After the video went viral on social media, many people questioned authorities about who should stop such things in the district. Officials have allowed some people to enter inside a septic tank without any equipment and that too on the Deputy Commissioner's office premises, they said.

"We saw two men doing some cleaning work, one of them went inside the tank without any safety gear. Initially, there were no people but when we saw it, we started taking videos on our mobile phones. When we went near them, they said it is common cleaning work and no equipment needed and when asked in detail, they did not comment." However, DC Sundareshbabu N said that he will check into it.

Council erupts over corruption in police dept

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE opposition and the ruling party engaged in a heated exchange of words during the discussion on some police staff indulging in corruption, in the council on Wednesday.

Opposition leader BK Hariprasad and others raised the issue and alleged a few police staff had indulged in corruption. However, the ministers said they can not generalise things and the government can act only on specific complaints.

Hariprasad alleged that police transfers had become a racket and money-spinner for politicians. Further, he alleged that officers in Dakshina Kannada abided by the words of a 'terrorist in Kalladka', without taking any names. The BJP members attacked him for using such words, which led to a heated exchange of words. Continuing, Hariprasad said the money gotten from police transfers was diverted to Keshava Krupa. His allegations led to an uproar in the House and members of the ruling and the opposition parties engaged in arguments.

However, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said barring a few black sheeps, the police personnel was doing efficient work. He alleged that Congress when in power, had appointed a retired IPS officer as an advisor to Home Minister and he controlled the entire department.

RELIEF AT LAST

Fishermen rejoice over SC stalling Sagarmala project

SUBHASH CHANDRA N S @Karwar

AFTER the Supreme Court stalled the 'controversial' Sagarmala project on Tuesday, fishermen in Aligadda fishing port were in a festive mood. Welcoming the SC order, Raju Tandel, president, Uttara Kannada District Fisheries Co-operative Federation, thanked advocate Devdutt Kamath for arguing and drawing the attention of the SC towards the Sagarmala project. He also thanked senior Congress leader Satish Sail for helping them with legal assistance. Once again the Sagarmala project has run into rough weather after the Apex Court orally ordered status quo. This is the second time, the project has been kept in abeyance and both the times, it is the fishermen who have brought the government to its knees.

The project had proposed expansion of the Baithkol commercial port by acquiring the adjoining place where at least 200 fishing boats anchor. The project stirred the hornet's nest in 2019 and 2020 as local fishermen's organisation, Baithkol Bandaru Nirashritara Yantrikrutha Dhoni Meenugarara Sahakara Sangha Niyamitha (BNYDMSN), with help from former MLA Satish Sail, took legal route and obtained a stay from the High Court in the early 2020. However, the state government ensured that the stay was vacated recently. A budgetary allocation of Rs 1,800 crore was also announced in February 2022.

The BNYDMSN moved the Supreme Court which had scheduled the hearing on March 29. The project aimed at dredging the sea deep to enable anchoring of commercial ships and concretise the beach to expand and upgrade the existing commercial port. However, the counsel for the fishermen, Devdutt Kamath pointed out the glaring violations in the project like the environment clearance accorded by state cells and pending issues of alternative means of livelihood of fishermen.

Aligadda beach where the Sagarmala project is proposed | EXPRESS

He said that Karwar town is geographically a sensitive area and the clearance accorded by the state body is bad in law. "It is also a Critically Vulnerable Coastal Area (CVCA). In terms of the general condition of the 2006 EIA notification, even for projects that fell within Category B, it would be treated as Category A in such areas," he told the SC and sought status quo.

ASSAM-MEGHALAYA PACT A MODEL FOR THE NORTHEAST

The signing of an agreement between Assam and Meghalaya has hopefully ended a part of their five-decade-old inter-state border dispute. Tuesday's agreement, signed between Assam and Meghalaya Chief Ministers Himanta Sarma and Conrad Sangma in the presence of Union Home Minister Amit Shah, is based on recommendations made jointly by both states in January this year. In the proposals, out of the 36.79 sq km of disputed area, Assam will get control of 18.51 sq km and Meghalaya 18.28 sq km. It is now over to the Survey of India, which will delineate and demarcate the boundaries in the presence of representatives of both governments. This will be placed in Parliament for approval and the process is likely to take a few months.

Assam has border disputes not just with Meghalaya, but with Nagaland, Mizoram and Arunachal Pradesh as well, each with a legacy of its own. This is because during British rule, Assam consisted of the present-day Nagaland, Arunachal Pradesh, Mizoram and Meghalaya. After the Northeastern states were reorganised in 1972 in order to give shape to ethnic aspirations, the disputes surfaced. The long-standing differences between Assam and Meghalaya began that year when the latter was carved out of the former under the Assam Reorganisation Act, 1971. Several attempts were made to resolve the differences but without success. For instance, in 1985, an official committee was constituted with former Supreme Court Chief Justice Y V Chandrachud and the then Assam and Meghalaya CMs Hiteswar Saikia and Williamson Sangma, but they failed to find a solution. It is in this background that Tuesday's agreement needs to be looked at. A seemingly intractable problem will see closure if things work out according to plan. There are already calls in the Northeast that the Assam-Meghalaya pact should be used as a template to end the other border disputes. The Centre and the Northeast states have a golden opportunity to at least bring the parties to the negotiating table as all the seven states in the region are either ruled by the BJP or its ally at the helm. It is time to catch the bull by the horns and seize the moment.

GENDER VIOLENCE NOT JUST A LEGAL ISSUE

Gender-based violence must be tackled as a social problem as well as from the perspective of law and order. Too often, responses to cases of violence focus on one or the other—stronger laws and stringent punishments, without tackling the structural issues that contribute to such violence. In Tamil Nadu, two recent cases of rape—one involving months of coercion, blackmail and harassment—have resulted in a concern about the state of law and order in the state. Unfortunately, these questions are often addressed through interventions of limited utility, such as installing more CCTV cameras. A more effective deterrent would be to empower survivors to file police complaints by making this process sensitive and quick, prosecuting such cases in a timely manner and improving conviction rates. While the TN police now say that more survivors, especially younger women, are coming forward to register complaints, the fact remains that the process as it now exists largely revictimises survivors. A case in point is the two years it took the Chennai police to act on a complaint of rape against an IIT Madras scholar registered in 2020. It is not only at the police side that bottlenecks exist. Even POCSO cases can drag on for years, at significant cost to the survivor and family. Earlier reportage by this newspaper showed that sometimes pendency was the result of a special court going months without a judge! The assurance of sensitive survivor-centred processes and speedy trials will boost the confidence of complainants while shattering that of offenders.

Another important intervention is meaningful gender-sensitivity training among school and college students. This is in the pipeline, going by state policy documents. Not only will this training help seed real social change but it will also help better tackle gender-based violence committed by minors by challenging toxic values that youngsters may uncritically imbibe from family, friends and pop culture. Significantly, these interventions must focus on all children and not just girls as has too often been the case.

For Ayurveda to blossom globally as one of the most ancient and significant knowledge systems, marrying it to modern medicinal research and documentation systems is a must

WORKING TOWARDS A LANCET FOR AYURVEDA & YOGA

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE
President, ICCR, and BJP Rajya Sabha MP

SOUMYADIP SINHA

It is heartening to note that Ayurveda is going places. As reported in the media and further endorsed by the PM, the Ministry of Ayush has signed a Host Country Agreement with the World Health Organization (WHO) for establishing a WHO Global Centre for Traditional Medicine (GCTM) at Jamnagar in India, with its interim office at the Institute of Training and Research in Ayurveda (ITRA) in Gujarat. It must be noted here that after the establishment of the global headquarters of the International Solar Alliance in Gurugram some five years before, India will be a host to yet another global body, this time in Gujarat. The primary objective of this centre is to harness the potential of traditional medicine from across the world through modern science and technology and improve the overall health of communities across the globe.

This welcome development provides a global window for all traditional medicinal systems in India to work in collaboration with bodies worldwide. Secondly, it also marks a kind of international recognition for one of the significant sections of our traditional knowledge systems. With an Ayurvedacharya—and not an administrative services official—heading the AYUSH ministry, it would be reasonable to expect that AYUSH would do everything to build up further on this opportunity.

India is home to a plethora of traditional medicinal systems. We have Siddha, Yoga, Naturopathy, Tibetan medicine and a variety of region-specific herbal medicines besides Unani and Homoeopathy. However, in popularity, Ayurveda is perhaps the most widespread traditional medicinal system, well-entrenched in Indian society.

Unlike many modern medicinal systems, Ayurveda is essentially known for an integrated and holistic approach that attempts to provide lifestyle solutions to several common health issues. Also, generally speaking, Ayurveda has no side effects. The emphasis on preventive and therapeutic approaches in Ayurveda is almost incomparable. It aims at immortality and in the shorter term, focuses on all-round wellness. Notably, the state of California, in the US, has now introduced Yoga in schools as a way of lifestyle modification. They also have introduced mindfulness as a part of the curriculum in many schools. Such examples of state recognition to what is essentially an Indian traditional medicinal system are indicative of the fact that demand for Ayurveda and traditional medicines in general is growing.

However, even with several unique features of Ayurveda, the apparent limitations of it cannot be ignored. From the commoners' point of view, like fast food, fast medicines are preferred and Ayurveda often fails on that count. Administration of Ayurvedic medicines like kadhas and churans are comparatively not so user friendly. While allopathy claims to offer single-window solutions, Ayurveda demands multiple treatments and the increasing pace of life makes it unfriendly to the patient. Sanskrit names of medicines sound difficult to pronounce and remember, lack of standardisation in mechanisms for the production of Ayurvedic medicines and apparent inadequacies in treating acute infections and other emergencies are some of the many challenges that have prevented the speedy devel opment of the science. In popular perception, sadly Ayurveda continues to be associated with poor research, poorer documentation in global languages and low evidence base.

> The AYUSH ministry should convince the decision-makers to desist from referring to allopathy as modern medicine. Singling out allopathy in this way makes all other medicinal systems look un-modern. This should not happen

For Ayurveda to blossom globally as one of the most ancient and significant knowledge systems, marrying traditional Ayurveda to modern medicinal research and documentation systems is a must. To that end, collective and structured efforts for unanimity leading to self-confidence in the Ayurveda fraternity, adoption of modern research methodologies without compromising on the essential indigenousness and documentation of research in globally acceptable systems are the three critical requirements.

Many times, the Ayurveda fraternity comes across as a divided house. While differences of opinion on scientific or policy issues may be genuine, they are construed as issues of personal ego. Whatever the reality, the impact is disastrous as it prevents a strong, united approach and punctures the self-confidence of the fraternity. This is obviously detrimental to the growth of Ayurveda as a science.

Happily, the leadership of the AYUSH ministry is deeply conscious of this situation and is determined to transform the same. Vaidya Kotecha, a renowned Ayurveda expert, is working for the integration of AYUSH in healthcare delivery and national health programmes. He understands the challenge of establishing evidence-based applications and research by AYUSH practitioners. In an interview, he has suggested four key strategies to achieve the ministry's goals. These include: 1. Standardisation of quality control (R&D); 2. Sustainable development of resources; 3. Integration of AYUSH in health delivery systems; 4. Promotion of science and technology as an integral part of AYUSH development for the promotion of AYUSH-based healthy living. My only request to the ministry would be that it should convince the decision-makers to desist from referring to allopathy as modern medicine. Singling out allopathy in this way makes all other medicinal systems look un-modern. This should not happen.

All these strategy points are critical and if we work together on them, the days of having an independent Lancet (the most famous and globally established journal for medical research) for Ayurveda and Yoga besides all traditional Indian knowledge systems are certainly not too far.

EARLY INDIC VISIONS OF HISTORY – I

SHONALEEKA KAUL
Associate Professor, Centre for Historical Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University

In 1825, H H Wilson, Member of the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal and translator of gems of Sanskrit literature such as Kalidasa's Meghaduta and the Vishnu Purana, translated parts of Kalhana's Rajatarangini, the 12th century "Hindu History of Cashmir", as he called it. Wilson famously observed about the Rajatarangini that it was "the only Sanskrit composition yet discovered to which the title of History, can with any propriety be applied".

Read closely, Wilson's adulation for the text's historical qualities was in fact indictment of an entire literary culture and civilisation for its lack thereof. Just a few years before him, Imperialist historian James Mill, in his notorious The History of British India (1817), had launched a diatribe against 'backward' Indian literary and cultural traditions for not matching up to their Graeco-Roman or Judaeo-Christian counterparts, which were celebrated for their historicity. The culmination of such assessments was a downgrading and delegitimising of indigenous Indian narratives of, and approaches to, the past.

Comments such as those of Mill and Wilson can be understood as both illustrative of and foundational in the then-emerging misconception and propaganda that Indic civilisation, and particularly Sanskrit traditions, were singularly lacking in historical sense, a notion that came to endure and enjoyed great currency ever since. This 'lack', in turn, was believed to be on account of other Orientalist stereotypes that were developing about India as the British colonial regime established itself in the early 19th century, namely, a greater proclivity of Indians to spiritual over material interests, and a changelessness and stasis of Indian society itself. These together were deemed responsible for the apparent dearth of historical literature in India, especially as compared to the abundance of scriptures, mythology and aesthetic works.

Against this entrenched colonial bias of 200 years, documenting and understanding early Indic visions and methods of history on their own terms assumes considerable significance. We will do so in this series by: (a) surveying the range of evidence available of early Indian societies displaying a distinct regard for time and time-keeping, and preserving and chronicling events for posterity, and (b) questioning the Positivist Eurocentric basis on which the modern discipline of history has come to exclude traditional Indic modes of narrating the past, like myth and ethical instruction.

Time and chronology are regarded as perhaps the single most important element of historical consciousness. Early India deployed both linear and non-linear systems of reckoning time. Among the former were a number of eras or calendars (samvat, kala) that were evolved and used over centuries. The most famous of these would be the Vikram samvat dating to 57 BCE and the Shaka samvat inaugurated in 78 CE. (The latter was adopted as the official calendar of the Government of India.) Other calendars were the Gupta kala (319 CE), the Kalachuri-Chedi era (248 CE), and the Harsha era (606 CE).

> Indic conceptions of time were not confined to anthropic and quotidian time; they were as conscious of vast cycles of cosmic time against which they also thought it important to situate human history. Thus the concept of chaturyuga ('four eras'), to be found primarily in that vast corpus of texts called the puranas

Though also occurring in texts, the use of these samvats is most prominently seen in thousands of inscriptions.

Of these, epigraphs from the 3rd century BCE onwards display a striking sense of history insofar as they were, by and large, punctilious about recording the date of their being inscribed as also of the event they were recording or commemorating, or the dates of the king during whose reign the inscription was instituted. Later, more elaborate inscriptions, especially from south and central India, called copper plate land grant charters, included a detailed genealogy of the ruling king and his entire dynasty. They tended to give highly precise and complex dates starting with the era (samvat), year (varsha), month (masa), lunar fortnight (paksha), week (saptah), date (tithi), down to the day (divasa) and hour (muhurta) of the day!

However, Indic conceptions of time were not confined to anthropic and quotidian time; they were as conscious of vast cycles of cosmic time against which they also thought it important to situate human history. Thus the concept of chaturyuga ('four eras'), to be found primarily in that vast corpus of texts called the puranas. One yuga followed another in a cycle characterised by declining moral values and general lawlessness, which, however, was followed by another cycle of regeneration.

The four yugas were krta (the golden age), treta, dvapara and kali (the dark or polluted age). Together they constituted a mahayuga, and one thousand mahayugas formed a kalpa, which was equal to 4.32 billion (human) years! Each kalpa was divided into 14 intervals known as manvantaras. The end of every kalpa was marked by deluge and annihilation of the world—till the next cycle of creation began. All these were exponentially widening divisions of time. Our present is believed to be in the middle of the kaliyuga, which clocks a total of 4,32,000 years.

Rather than see yugas and kalpas or cyclical time as mythic time, their sheer enormity and scale can be read as a statement on the unreckonable nature and vastness of time when seen from the very beginnings of creation. This may perhaps be among the earliest expressions of the recent fields of 'deep history' or 'big history' that also seek to look back to the origins of the Earth and the solar system. Further, the placing of moral order at the centre of time suggests a deeply ethical worldview. And the cyclicity of moral ascendance and decline, where history and human behaviour repeat themselves over and over again across the millennia, suggests a historical vision crucially invested with cultural memory.

Defeatism in Didi's words?

West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee's effort towards opposition unity is laudable. But her statement that progressive opposition parties should unite to fight against the oppressive BJP over the issue of harassment from law enforcement agencies smacks of fear and a sense of defeatism. This cannot woo the voters; they look for effective governance with overall growth and development. Can Didi find a valid reason to unseat the BJP in 2024 instead of reiterating on "vendetta politics"? The same applies to another PM aspirant K Chandrashekar Rao.

Venkat Desikan, Chennai

Effective oppn needed

Mamata Banerjee is spot on with her observation that if our democracy has to thrive and mature, then we require a strong national opposition to counter, challenge and alter the policies of the current administration. Democracy sans an effective opposition is removing the checkpoints that assesses if the ruling government is working for the overall interest of the country. The Congress with its infighting and lack of a strong leadership has lost the sting to lead an opposition. It is the responsibility of the regional satraps such as Arvind Kejriwal, Mamata Banerjee, M K Stalin and others to forge a vibrant opposition.

Biju C Mathew, Thiruvananthapuram

Mamata's letter a ploy

Mamata's letter to opposition leaders and non-BJP CMs asking them to come together to oppose what she calls the BJP's attack on institutional democracy using central agencies is only a ploy to cover up the Birbhum tragedy and the intra-party squabbles. Didi is trying to convert her personal crisis into a national one.

G Nataraja Perumal, Tenkasi

Inhuman treatment

This is with reference to CPM men beat KSEB staff up while on duty at Alathur (March 30). The inhuman treatment meted out to the KSEB staff is not justifiable by any standards. KSEB is an essential service and any dereliction can create havoc. It is better that the leaders at the helm of affairs guide their followers suitably.

Dharmarajan A K, Thalassery

Aiming at a bigger goal

With eyes firmly set on the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, the Yogi Adityanath government 2.0 in UP has introduced a slew of measures, both for welfarism and image building. The proposed introduction of community kitchens and streamlining the selection of ministers and their personal staff are indicative of this assumption. The party is aware that the electoral prospects in UP would be the decisive factor to make or mar its ascendancy to the throne in New Delhi for the third time.

A Raveendranath, Aranmula

Poor treatment of tuskers

It is disheartening to note that this is how we treat one of the most noble animals (Tusker killed by bus had barbed wire injuries, March 30). The photographs showed barbed wires entangled in the jumbo's snout. Opinion on the same is divided, with a group of people saying that the wire is pretty old and the others claiming that this might be the actual cause of death. Nonetheless, it makes one wonder about the utility of barbed wires in elephant corridors.

A BJP panel hands over their report regarding the Birbhum-violence, where eight people were burnt alive, to BJP president JP Nadda in New Delhi | PTI

A 'fact-finding' team of the BJP reported to party national president JP Nadda on Wednesday that the recent carnage in Birbhum district of West Bengal was the "outcome of state-sponsored extortion, cut-money, and the rivalry among its illicit beneficiaries".

The five-member team, including four former IPS officers-turned-BJP MPs, stated that under the Trinamool Congress leadership, "mafia is ruling West Bengal in connivance with police and political leadership. The law and order machinery has totally collapsed".

Sharing the main findings of the report, the BJP alleged that West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee decided to visit the spot only after the BJP's 'fact-finding' team had reached Kolkata. Because of "the forced -visit of CM", the team's journey was "thwarted by TMC goons bent upon assaulting the members". "Not a single officer or constable of West Bengal Police was visible. Nobody came to the rescue of the team when the members were attacked. Our efforts to contact the DGP and other officers failed," the report said.

The report further said the local residents fled from homes fearing threat to their lives and property. "In view of this, it is recommended that the NHRC and the national commissions for women and child rights should visit the village and instill confidence in the residents," the report said.

The report also recommended that All India Service Officers serving in West Bengal should be made to realise their constitutional obligations and the Centre should strongly caution them.

Misuse of power: Mamata

Expressing serious reservations over the BJP delegation's report, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said it interfered with the ongoing probe by the CBI and alleged that the carnage was a conspiracy hatched by the saffron camp. "I condemn this type of attitude. Investigation must be free and fair. We are cooperating from the first day of the probe. At this stage of the probe, interference of the ruling party in the Centre means absolute misuse and abuse of power," she said.

'Agitations if CBI brings politics into probe'

Mamata Banerjee threatened mass agitations by the TMC if the CBI, at the instance of the BJP, makes an effort to bring politics in its investigation. "The massacre was hatched by the BJP. They want our Birbhum district president to get arrested," the West Bengal CM said.

Nod for purchase of made-in-India combat choppers

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

IN a significant move towards inducting indigenously manufactured combat platforms in the armed forces, the Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) on Wednesday approved procurement of 15 Light Combat Helicopters (LCH) manufactured by the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) for the army and the air force.

The Ministry of Defence in a statement said, "The CCS has approved procurement of 15 LCH Limited Series Production at the cost of ₹3,887 cr along with Infrastructure sanctions worth ₹377 cr." Ten LCHs will be for the IAF and five for the army.

"LCH-LSP is an indigenously designed, developed and manufactured state-of-the-art modern combat helicopter containing approximately 45% indigenous content by value which will progressively increase to more than 55% for the SP Version," the ministry added. "These are India's first pure attack helicopters being made in India. These have tandem sitting which streamlines the design to achieve speed and manoeuvrability," said an air force officer. "Has been specifically designed to meet the high-altitude requirements of the forces," he added.

This helicopter is equipped with requisite agility, maneuverability, extended range, high- altitude performance and around-the-clock, all-weather combat capability and can perform roles of combat search and rescue (CSAR), destruction of enemy air defence (DEAD), against slow moving aircraft and remotely piloted aircraft (RPAs), high-altitude bunker-busting operations, counter insurgency operations in jungle and urban environments and support to ground forces, the MoD said.

State-of-the-art technologies and systems compatible with stealth features such as reduced visual, aural, radar and IR signatures and crashworthiness features for better survivability have been integrated in the LCH.

SC tells UP to respond to panel suggestion on cancelling Mishra's bail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday told the Uttar Pradesh government that the court-monitored committee overseeing the SIT probe into Lakhimpur Kheri violence has recommended cancellation of the bail granted to Union minister Ajay Mishra's son Ashish Mishra.

"It appears that the monitoring judge has written to the state to file an appeal in the SC to cancel the bail of the main accused," the bench said. Senior advocate Mahesh Jethmalani appearing for the UP government said he was not aware of the recommendation. The court has sought response from the state government on their stand on it and adjourned the next hearing to April 4.

The apex court had appointed Justice Rakesh Kumar Jain, former judge of the Punjab and Haryana High Court, to monitor the Special Investigation Team's progress in the case.

The Uttar Pradesh government in a counter affidavit filed on Tuesday had said it had "vehemently opposed" the bail application of Mishra in the case. The state government informed this to the top court in response to a petition filed by the family members of the victims of the Lakhimpur Kheri violence last year against the Allahabad High Court's order which had granted bail to him.

Senior advocate Dushyant Dave, appearing for the petitioners, submitted that the UP government has submitted that they had opposed the bail in the High Court. "It is imminent that the bail be cancelled in these circumstances as the HC verdict suffers from non-application of mind," he said.

Full physical hearings from Apr 4

New Delhi: The Supreme Court will resume full physical hearings from April 4, CJI NV Ramana said on Wednesday. He also said the lawyers can request for virtual hearings on Mondays and Fridays. "On Mondays and Fridays we will provide links (for virtual hearing) if advocates want," Ramana said. Bar Association president Vikas Singh thanked the bench for the decision. It has been more than two years since the top court adopted virtual functioning.

Will intensify stir until Centre clarifies stand on cancelling Tapi project: Cong

PARVEZ SULTAN & DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @New Delhi/Ahmedabad

AHEAD of the Assembly election in Gujarat, the ruling BJP is facing heat over the Par-Tapi-Narmada river-linking project. The tribals in the state have been protesting against the project, which was announced in this year's Union budget, and now the echoes of it have reached the national capital.

At a press conference at the Congress headquarters in New Delhi on Wednesday, party leaders from Gujarat said the BJP government is rattled because of the continuous protests. The Congress leaders said they would continue agitations till the project is shelved.

"When the BJP felt that there would be losses in the upcoming Assembly election, it decided to put the project on hold. The announcement was not made by the government but by BJP's Gujarat state chief CR Patil," said Shaktisinh Gohil, Congress Rajya Sabha MP.

The project envisages transferring of water from the surplus regions of Western Ghats to the deficit regions of Saurashtra and Kutch, and needs seven dams. Congress MLA and tribal leader Anant Patel demanded a white paper on the project. "How could one accept a BJP leader's workds as the project was announced by the Centre?"

Congress also alleged the project aimed to only benefit the "industrialist-friends" of the government. "Water has not reached Kutch. It is not available to people in Saurashtra. You are giving water to industrialists. The government should reply," said Gohil.

Incidently, Gujarat minister Kanu Desai on Wednesday told the Assembly that Central government has decided to drop the project.

If somebody talks about causing harm to tribals just for the benefit of a handful of people, Congress will fight. Water is not going to north Gujarat but you are giving it to industrialists — Shaktisinh Gohil, Congress

Modi to visit tribal-dominated Gujarat district

Ahmedabad: Prime Minister Narendra Modi will visit the tribal-dominated Dahod area of Gujarat on April 21, state BJP president C R Paatil said on Wednesday. Though there has been no official announcement of the prime minister's visit, party sources said he was likely to speak at a rally in the region. Addressing BJP workers in Gandhinagar on Wednesday, Paatil said, "Prime minister Narendra Modi will visit Gujarat on April 21. His first programme in the morning will be held in Dahod." Referring to the Congress attacking it over the Tapi river-linking project, he said that while Congress organises press conference in Delhi on issues related to Gujarat, BJP workers hold meetings for programme to be organised in tribal areas. On Tuesday, Paatil had said the Centre has decided not to give a go-ahead to the Par-Tapi-Narmada project.

Fear of side-effects deters parents from jabbing kids: Survey

Awareness about vaccinating children against Covid remains high | PTI

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

A vaccine-hesitancy study across five states — Bihar, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra and Uttar Pradesh — revealed that awareness of Covid-19 vaccination for children was above 80% but the parents were concerned about post-vaccination side effects such as fever, headache, sickness and even death.

The survey by NGOs Save the Children and Abdul Latif Jameel Poverty Action Lab (JPAL) also showed that even poor and illiterate people were aware (over 76%) of the vaccination for children but didn't know how to register for it.

A total of 5,363 respondents from different educational, economic and social backgrounds, religions, age groups and gender were surveyed from December 1, 2021-January 31, 2022, in these five states. Some respondents (10% of 867 completely unvaccinated respondents) said they didn't want to vaccinate children due to lack of information about its efficacy, despite high awareness levels.

Their main concerns for not doing so were safety and long-term suitability. Some even said they fear that if their children were vaccinated, they would catch fever, or fall sick for a long time and even die.

However, over 90% of respondents in these states said they would like to get their children vaccinated.

"Our strategy is to strengthen the Covid-19 vaccination delivery and ensure most vulnerable populations have access to evidence-based information on Covid-19 vaccination to demystify the misinformation and myths to improve vaccination uptake," said Dr Antaryami Dash, acting deputy director, health and nutrition, Save the Children, India.

Among the five states, Maharashtra was on top of the list, where over 94% of respondents knew about the registration process for the vaccine. However, 83% in Bihar had no clue about the process, followed by Madhya Pradesh (75.7%), Jharkhand (41.2%) and Uttar Pradesh (37.2%). There was uncertainty related to the registration process, especially in Bihar and Madhya Pradesh, where 83 per cent and 75 per cent of the respondents, respectively, did not know how to register. The study said awareness increased with education.

NO INTEREST IN KEEPING J&K UNDER PREZ RULE: SHAH

NEW DELHI: Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday said Assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir will be held once the delimitation exercise is over and after consultation with political parties. "We have no interest in keeping Jammu and Kashmir under President's Rule," Shah said in Lok Sabha.

Shah said that he had made it clear that first panchayat elections will be held in Jammu and Kashmir, then this would be followed by the delimitation exercise, after which Assembly elections will be held, and then J-K's statehood will be restored.

"Panchayat elections have been held, without any violence. Zilla panchayat elections are over. Delimitation is on the verge of completion. I would like to say this once again, that once delimitation is completed we will hold elections after consultation with political parties," Shah said.

During the discussion on the Delhi Municipal Corporation (Amendment) Bill, opposition members had accused the government of delaying the assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir.

EC ban on TMC MLA for threatening Asansol voters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Election Commission has barred Trinamool Congress legislator Narendranath Chakraborty from campaigning for seven days for violation of the Model Code of Conduct (MCC) after he reportedly threatened the voters.

Censuring the MLA, the poll panel on Tuesday issued orders prohibiting him from holding any public meetings, public processions, public rallies, road shows and interviews, public utterances in media (electronic, print, social media), etc. in connection with the ongoing bye-election for the Asansol Lok Sabha seat in West Bengal for a week.

He has been barred from campaigning for seven days from 10 am on March 30 till 8 pm on April 6 for violation of the Model Code of Conduct (MCC), the Representation of the People Act and the Indian Penal Code after he allegedly issued threats to voters.

The action was taken on the complaint made by the BJP leaders after his video threatening the voters went viral. In the video, he can be seen reportedly asking the TMC workers to intimidate the BJP supporters to not come out of their houses on the day of elections.

Bihar prohibition law eased for first-timers

Bill passed by voice vote in the state Assembly; first-time offenders will attract only fines, not judicial custody

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

FACED with criticism, the Bihar government on Wednesday tabled the Prohibition and Excise (Amendment) Bill 2022 in the state legislative assembly, making provisions of certain amendments in the existing law to give relaxations to the first-time offenders. The Bill introduced by state prohibition and excise minister Sunil Kumar was passed by voice vote.

As per the provisions in the amended law, the first-time offenders will not be sent to judicial custody. Their cases will be heard by the executive magistrates. The amount of fine to be realised from first-time offenders will be decided by the government later.

If the accused failed to pay the penalty imposed by the executive magistrate, he/she will have to serve one month in prison. Moreover, vehicles impounded on the charges of violating the prohibition law may be released after payment of penalty. But this will be applicable to cases of mild nature.

The amendments, however, mentioned harsher punishment for habitual offenders and those involved in illicit trade of alcohol in 'dry' state. Sub-section has been added in Section 2 of Bihar Prohibition and Excise Act 2016, treating sale of alcohol as 'organised crime'. There have been three major changes in the existing Act.

First, people found in inebriated condition will not be directly sent to judicial custody but released on payment of fine imposed by the executive magistrates appointed by the government.

Secondly, the prohibition cases will be heard by executive magistrates, deputy collectors and officers above those ranks. Section 55 of the Act has been abrogated making the offences under Prohibition Act as 'compoundable offence'.

Similarly, major changes have been brought in section 57 of the existing Act. Now, alcohol or raw material used for making liquor may be destroyed on the order of district magistrates.

NDA leaders hailed the Bill passed by the House. Reacting to the Bill, former chief minister Jitan Ram Manjhi said, "It's clear that CM Nitish Kumar is not rigid on the policy."

PANDITS REBUILD HOMES IN VALLEY, RETURN TO ROOTS

FAYAZ WANI @ Mattan (Anantnag)

EVEN as a debate is raging across the country over the exodus of Hindus from Kashmir following eruption of militancy in the late Eighties, about half-a-dozen Kashmiri Pandit families are constructing houses in a village in Mattan in south Kashmir's Anantnag district, to permanently shift there.

Following a considerable improvement in the ground situation in Kashmir, these families are keen to return to their roots in the Valley.

Pandit Kakaji, who is building a two-storey house for himself and his brother's family, told this newspaper that the construction work started in 2016. He currently lives in a rented accommodation nearby to oversee the work.

"I expect the construction will be completed this year and we intend to shift to the house in 2022 only," he said.

Asked if he feels any threat living in Kashmir, Kakaji said, "I don't feel any threat. We have total communal harmony in the village." Anantnag has been a hotbed of militancy in Kashmir.

The village, according to the locals, had about 80 Pandit families before the eruption of militancy and most of them migrated after 1990.

Kakaji said many Pandit families have built their houses in the village and are living there. Their Kashmiri Muslim neighbours, who had been taking care of their properties, are helping the Pandits reconstruct their houses by making all arrangements for them. The construction work is also being done by the Muslims.

Abdul Aziz, an elderly villager, said the return of Pandits was a welcome sign. "We are happy that they are returning to their roots. The Pandits are part of Kashmiriyat and they should return and live with their Muslim brethren as they used to, before 1990s," he said.

Ashok Kumar, president, Martand Temple Trust, Mattan said about half-a-dozen Pandit families started construction of their houses last year. "Many Pandit families have also renovated their houses as they intend to come back," he said, adding that the local Muslims are wholeheartedly welcoming the return of the Pandits.

> We are happy that they are returning to their roots. The Pandits are part of Kashmiriyat and they should return and live with their Muslim brethren as they used to, before 1990s
> Abdul Aziz, resident

Kumar said the situation in Kashmir has changed very much from the 1990s and is conducive for the return of migrant Pandits. The government should take initiative and construct houses for 6,000 Kashmiri Pandits, who have to be provided jobs under the PM's job package. "6,000 jobs means as many families and at least 24,000 individuals. If the government provides quarter to everyone, it will have a positive impact on the ground. It will lead to greater interaction between the Kashmiri Pandits and Muslims," Kumar said.

Akhilesh's move to stay in UP a challenge for BSP, Cong to keep clout intact

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE move by Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav to sacrifice his Lok Sabha membership – to retain his Assembly seat in order to remain active in state politics – is seen as an attempt to keep his party's vote bank intact and project it as the only alternative to the BJP in Uttar Pradesh.

On the other, his move also poses a challenge to other opposition parties including Mayawati-led Bahujan Samaj Party and the Congress which are losing even the opposition space rapidly in the state.

In the recently concluded UP Assembly election, while BJP returned to power with over two-third majority securing 273 seats, SP emerged as the major opposition with 125 seats along with its allies. However, BSP, which ruled the Hindi heartland for four times under Mayawati, and Congress which helmed the state unchallenged till 1989 stand completely decimated with just one and two MLAs respectively in the 18th Assembly.

Interestingly, Akhilesh's move of quitting Lok Sabha took political pundits by surprise. In 2017, after he lost power to the BJP winning just 47 seats, Akhilesh was holding the membership of UP Legislative Council. He remained in the council till May 2018 when his term ended but he appointed party leader Ahmad Hassan as the Leader of Opposition. However, in the follow through, the SP chief won 2019 Lok Sabha elections from Azamgarh.

Given his 2017 stand, the political experts in 2022 were of the view that he would prefer Lok Sabha seat to Assembly as quitting it will bring down the number of SP MPs to four in the lower house of Parliament. But both Akhiesh and Azam Khan resigned, bringing the party's tally to just three in Lok Sabha.

Centre turns down Punjab's request for agri grant and additional power

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A confrontation may be brewing between the AAP government in Punjab and the BJP-led Central government as the latter has refused to release ₹1,750 crore from Rural Development Fund (RDF) to the state for the wheat season beginning April 1. Moreover, the state's demand for 750 megawatt power from the unallocated pool from April 1 to October 31 has also been turned down.

Sources said the Centre has conveyed to the state that it should enact a law to ensure that the RDF is used only for developing rural infrastructure. Punjab gets a grant of ₹1,000 crore as RDF on paddy purchase and ₹750 crore on wheat purchase from Food Corporation of India (FCI).

The state government has often been accused of misusing this fund. Over the years, ₹4,700 crore was allegedly diverted from the RDF grant by the previous governments to repay the loan taken for the farm loan waiver scheme.

The state is now considering bringing an ordinance to amend the Punjab Rural Development Act, 1987, so that RDF can be used for creating infrastructure in rural areas and not to repay the loans taken by the Punjab Mandi Board.

Further, the Centre has turned down the state's demand for 750 MW power from the unallocated pool while it has given 728 MW power to Haryana. In the summers, many states facing shortage demand power from this pool while surplus states surrender their electricity.

The Northern Regional Power Committee had on March 24 recommended to Union power ministry that Punjab should be given 40% power (600 MW) from this pool, which had 1522.73 MW of power.

Farmers plan protest if toll rates hiked

CHANDIGARH: Farmers are bracing for another agitation as the fee at toll plazas across Punjab and Haryana is set to increase. As per the National Highways Authority of India, toll plazas in both the states will start charging 10-18 per cent more from April 1. The hike was cleared by the Centre, said a NHAI official.

Samyukta Kisan Morcha leader Harinder Singh Lakhowal said, "Farmers unions under the banner of SKM will hold a meeting soon and take a decision in this regard as we protest this move." Another SKM leader, Darshan Pal, said, "We will make sure rates are not raised. Fuel prices are already at an all-time high." ENS

Sonia Gandhi reconstitutes Manipur unit

New Delhi: Weeks after a humiliating defeat in the state, Congress president Sonia Gandhi on Wednesday reconstituted the party's Manipur unit. Keisham Megchandra Singh has been appointed as its new president. The leader also replaced all the four working presidents in the reconstituted committee. Singh replaces Loken Singh, who has been made member of the executive committee of the Manipur Congress. Manipur is the first state where the state unit of the party has been revamped after the drubbing in the recently-held Assembly polls in five states. The party failed to win any of the states and lost Punjab to the AAP. Soon after the poll debacle, Gandhi had asked the PCC chiefs of the five states to resign and appointed observers to look into the defeats. ENS

Civic body poll during Rongali Bihu annoys parties

Major political parties in Assam, including ruling BJP, have expressed their displeasure that the Guwahati Municipal Corporation elections coincide with Rongali Bihu which is celebrated month-long from mid-April every year. Shelling throws doubt on Russia's de-escalation in Ukraine

KYIV

UKRAINE on Wednesday accused Russia of shelling a city where it had promised de-escalation, dampening hopes of an end to a war that has killed thousands and displaced millions, including four million who have now fled the country.

Ukraine and Western powers had already cast doubt on Russia's pledge to reduce military activity around Chernigiv and the capital Kyiv, made during face-to-face talks in Istanbul on Tuesday.

"Chernigiv was shelled all night," regional governor Vyacheslav Chaus wrote on social media. Oleksandr Motuzyanyk, a spokesman for the Ukrainian defence ministry, said in a video statement that there had been "a certain partial movement of individual units from the Kyiv direction, as well as from the Chernigiv direction".

But he added: "We do not observe the mass removal of Russian troops from these areas".

Russian officials had pledged to "radically" reduce their attacks because of progress in negotiations on "the neutrality and non-nuclear status" of Ukraine — two central concerns for Moscow.

Both sides called the Istanbul meeting "meaningful" and "positive", but the Kremlin on Wednesday played down hopes of a breakthrough. "We cannot state that there was anything too promising or any breakthroughs," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov told reporters. "There is a lot of work to be done," Peskov said. The Pentagon said Russia had merely repositioned a "small number" of forces near Kyiv, and could be preparing a "major offensive" elsewhere.

The "vast majority" of Russian forces around Kyiv remained in place, said Pentagon spokesman John Kirby.

Still, the talks in Istanbul marked the first sign of progress in discussions to end the conflict, with a Kyiv negotiator saying there were "sufficient" conditions for Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky to meet his Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin.

Ukraine's Western allies said they had no plans to ease measures taken to punish Russia for the invasion which the UN says has seen more than four million Ukrainians flee.

Western sanctions should stay until "every single" Russian soldier is out of Ukraine, said British Prime Minister Boris Johnson, who called for sanctions to be intensified.

Poland also urged the European Union to impose a tax on Russian hydrocarbon imports while Germany and Austria raised their alarm levels over fears Russia could cut gas supplies to countries that refuse its demand to be paid in rubles.

But Putin on Wednesday told German Chancellor Olaf Scholz gas payments could continue in euros. AFP

PUTIN MISLED BY ADVISORS, SAYS US

Washington: President Vladimir Putin has been misled by military advisors reluctant to reveal the scale of losses suffered in Russia's invasion of Ukraine, a US official said Wednesday. "Putin is being misinformed by his advisors about how badly the Russian military is performing and how the Russian economy is being crippled by sanctions, because his senior advisors are too afraid to tell him the truth," the US official said, citing declassified US intelligence. AFP

'ATTACKS AMOUNT TO WAR CRIMES'

Geneva: Russia's attacks in Ukraine are of "immense concern", the UN rights chief said on Wednesday, warning that they could amount to "war crimes". Speaking before the UN Human Rights Council, Michelle Bachelet said the entire population of Ukraine had been "enduring a living nightmare" since Russia launched its invasion.

AXIS Bank, the country's third-largest private bank, has purchased Citibank's consumer banking business for $1.6 billion or ₹12,325 crore in an all-cash deal.

Axis expects to secure regulatory approvals for the deal in nine months, following which it will integrate Citi's retail customers with its platform over the next 12-18 months.

Under the deal, Citibank will transfer its credit card, retail banking, wealth management and consumer loans business to Axis Bank. Axis Bank said the deal would give it access to around 3 million unique customers of Citibank, which will enhance its presence in "key identified growth segments."

After the nine-month transition period, Axis Bank will onboard Citi's customers who will continue to avail of all the rewards, privileges, and offers to which they were previously entitled in the interim.

The bank will also absorb 3,600 employees of Citibank at "no less favourable terms of employment," implying they would receive the same or better salary structure. Axis will also gain access to seven offices, 21 branches and 499 ATMs across 18 cities.

"We look forward to collaborating with Citi's experienced senior leadership team and diverse talent pool, as they join Axis' 86,000+ strong, dedicated workforce," said Amitabh Chaudhry, MD & CEO, Axis Bank.

"Given the expertise that Citi employees bring to the table, we view them as a significant addition to our existing team that will help drive synergy realization and our GPS objectives."

Axis Bank expects the acquired portfolio to increase its credit card customer base by around 31% with an additional 2.5 million cards. On an overall basis, the proposed transaction will add around 7% to the Bank's deposit base (with around 12% increase in CASA or low cost deposits) and 4% increase in advances.

It also expects the deal to be margin accretive, though it doesn't expect the same to result in net interest margin (NIM) rising from the present 3.53% to 4%. For the rise in NIM to 4% the bank believes it will have to grow organically.

Analysts expressed a mixed opinion on the deal. "In a way it would be positive in terms of shrinking the gap between the No 3 and Axis in terms of credit card market share, but I'm not sure if they've not paid too much for Citi's retail business," said independent market expert Ambareesh Baliga.

Citibank's sale is part of its plan to exit from the consumer banking franchise from 13 markets, including India.

FRESH CONCERNS

Amazon said to raise concerns on FRL selling its assets

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

E-COMMERCE giant Amazon has reportedly raised fresh concerns about Future Retail alienating its fixtures and furniture in stores whose leases have been taken over by Reliance Retail, a source aware of the matter told TNIE.

"Concerns have arisen over FRL alienating the fixtures and furniture to a third-party which could transfer the same to Reliance Retail, enabling them to open the stores whose leases were taken over by the latter from FRL," the source claimed. Queries sent to Amazon, FRL and Reliance to verify this claim went unanswered. The source said the fixtures and furniture running into crores pertained to the 850 –odd stores whose leases were taken over by Reliance out of the total 1400 FRL stores. The leases were assumed after FRL failed to meet the rental obligations on the same.

The development surfaces amid closing arguments by Amazon in the NCLAT against CCI's suspension of its 2019 approval enabling the e-comm company to purchase stake in Future Coupons, which resulted in giving it a stake indirectly in FRL. CCI and FRL have concluded their arguments with the former stating that Amazon willfully failed to disclose its interest in the listed company.

The SC will hear an application on interim relief sought by Amazon on April 1 pertaining to alleged alienation by FRL of its assets.

In a separate development Future Enterprises informed the stock exchanges of the company having failed to pay an aggregate ₹19.16 cr to PNB, Canara Bank and Union Bank of India on March 28 under the one-time restructuring (OTR) plan.

Ind-Ra cuts India's growth forecast to 7-7.2%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S economic growth prospects may continue to feel the heat of Ukraine-Russia tensions and its aftermath as more and more analysts keep revising downward India's GDP growth forecast in 2022-23.

In its latest report, rating agency India Ratings has revised its 2022-23 India GDP growth rate from 7.6% to 7-7.2%. It says that its earlier outlook (released in January) no longer holds on the back of the Ukraine-Russia conflict.

The rating agency says if the crude oil price is assumed to be elevated for three months then GDP growth could be 7.2% but if crude prices remain high for another six months, the GDP growth may come down to 7%.

It sees retail inflation going up by 100-140 basis points in 202-23 due to higher crude oil and edible oil prices impacting consumption demand. "A 10% y-o-y increase in petroleum product prices without factoring in currency depreciation is expected to push up Consumer Price Index inflation by 42 basis points and Wholesale Price Index inflation by 104 basis points," India Ratings says in its latest economic outlook report.

Another rating agency ICRA recently drastically revised the GDP growth rate from 8% to 7.2% as it feels higher prices of fuels and items such as edible oils are likely to compress disposable incomes in the mid to lower income segments, constraining the demand revival in 2022-23. Recently, rating agency Moody's also cut the GDP growth estimate by 40 bps to 9.1% from 9.5% in 2022.

Poor testing by OEMs primary cause of fire in electric vehicles

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

JUST days after Ola Electric and Okinawa scooters caught fire, video of a Pure EPluto 7G emitting smoke while on fire in Chennai went viral on Wednesday. According to top industry leaders, inadequate testing, especially of the batteries in domestic conditions, and a rush among new-age players to launch products in quick time are major reasons behind these incidents.

Suhas RajKumar, CEO & Founder, Simple Energy told TNIE that designing a functioning EV is just half the game, testing it further to improve efficiencies and ensuring that it continues to function in extreme conditions is what OEMs should really spend more time on. The Battery Management System (BMS) should be smart enough to not let temperatures rise beyond a certain extent and robust enough to bear anything in the worst-case scenario, he added.

According to Sohinder Gill, Director General, Society of Manufacturers of Electric Vehicles (SMEV), OEMs (original equipment manufacturers) must ensure safety of their products as their business and brand name is at stake. He also called out OEMs' which are rolling out products without testing them enough in real life conditions. He told TNIE, "There are a large number of start-ups whose development and reliability checking time of the vehicle and battery is very short.The battery is supposed to last for 6-7 years. While they cannot test the battery for this many years, there are simulation techniques that reduce the time to 2-3 years, which should be the bare minimum... If they continue to launch a half cooked product, these incidents will occur in future."

Gill said that these incidents will impact capacity expansion of OEMs in the first half of FY23 as they are now taking corrective action to bring in the next level of safety.

He estimates e-2wheelr sales in FY2023 to be upward of 1 million units but the numbers will be lower in the first half (H1FY23) when compared to the second half (H2FY23).

Rajkumar said, "In the short run, these incidents will affect the aspects that consumers consider before buying an EV by asking the more important quality-centric questions."

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

ARTIFICIAL Intelligence-driven distribution and logistics start-up Ripplr has onboarded an investor banker who is working with the platform to close the Series B round.

The company is in advanced stages of discussion with many venture capitalists and private equity firms, and will be closing the round soon, as it is planning to enter new categories.

Last year, the start-up raised $12 million in a pre-series-B round with a mix of equity and debt from Sojitz Corporation, a Japanese firm and Stride Ventures. Earlier in January 2021, it had raised $3 million in a series-A round.

Ripplr connects brands with retailers, and offers distribution as a service (DaaS) to brands. It is also building the largest asset-light and tech-enabled distribution network.

"This Uber model is actually complementing and not competing with anyone," the co-founder said.

Hasaranga shines as RCB bowlers find their spark back, setting up win against KKR

MARTIN JOSEPH @Chennai

ROYAL Challengers Bangalore's bowling had come under the scanner after they failed to defend a target of 205 against Punjab Kings in their opening game. These are still early days in the league but RCB would have hoped that their frontline bowlers were just having an off day.

On Wednesday, after skipper Faf du Plessis won the toss and decided to bowl first against Kolkata Knight Riders, it was time for them to press the reset button at the DY Patil stadium in Navi Mumbai. And after what was a forgettable outing to start their season, the bowlers pulled things back in style with Harshal Patel looking ominous again and Wanindu Hasaranga showing what a potent weapon he could be, reducing Kolkata to 128. The total proved to be a tricky one but the RCB batters did just enough to take them over the line.

IPL TODAY'S MATCH LSG VS CSK LIVE ON SS 7:30 PM @ MUMBAI

RCB had chosen to stick with the same XI against a KKR outfit who had hardly put a foot wrong in their comfortable win against defending champions Chennai Super Kings in the season opener.

RCB enjoyed a good start with the likes of David Willey and Mohammed Siraj ensuring that the dangerous Venkatesh Iyer didn't dominate. After being whacked for a boundary off his first ball, Siraj put the pressure back on Venkatesh with his pace and hard length. The Kolkata batters were not allowed to settle thanks to a disciplined bowling effort. The pressure was building as Venkatesh fell to Akash Deep after being caught in two minds. It was Akask's very first ball and the extra bounce caught the southpaw by surprise as he nudged it straight back towards the pacer. Against Punjab, if all the bowlers except Shahbaz Nadeem (who bowled just one over) were conceding at nine runs per over, they looked in control here. By the end of the batting powerplay, the likes of Venkatesh, Ajinkya Rahane and Nitish Rana were back in the dressing room. If Rahane had perished trying to pull Siraj, Rana's stay in the middle was short thanks to a stunning fielding effort from Willey as RCB kept the pressure on. Hasaranga joined the act as he took out KKR skipper Shreyas Iyer, Sunil Narine and Sheldon Jackson in quick succession to leave the Kolkata side reeling at 67-6 in the ninth over.

Du Plessis was using his bowlers well as KKR weren't being allowed to build partnerships. Just when it looked like Sam Billings and Andre Russell were stabilizing their innings, Harshal Patel was introduced into the attack. Harshal produced a maiden in the 12th over which also yielded the wicket of Billings as it all boiled down to a battle between Russell and the bowlers.

Brief scores: KKR 128 in 18.5 ovs (Russell 25, Hasaranga 4/20) lost to RCB 132/7 in 19.2 ovs (Rutherford 28, Southee 3/20).

IPL rights: Four different categories up for grabs

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) in its Invitation to Tender (ITT) document for the media rights of the Indian Premier League (IPL) period 2023-2027 has placed four different categories that will be up for grabs. Unlike the last time, where a consolidated bid was in place, through which Star bagged the rights for a whopping ₹16,347.5 crore for a five-year period that ends with this season, interested parties have to bid separately for each category.

According to an IPL governing council member, the first category is for television rights in the Indian sub-continent, for which the base price is set at ₹49 crore per game. As per the current deal, BCCI pocketed ₹54.23 crore per IPL match. Category II is for digital rights, which has a base price of ₹33 crore per game. Although with 10 teams in place, there are talks of expanding the tournament which will see each team play each other twice, the BCCI has rolled out the ITT as per the existing format of 74 matches.

The base price of ₹49 crore for television rights means each season will bring the BCCI at least ₹3,626 crore. For a five-year period, it comes to ₹18,130 crore. This sum is far higher than what Sony (₹11,050 Cr) had bid in 2017. In the digital rights category, the base price for the next five years is ₹12,210. In 2017, Facebook had placed a bid of ₹3,900 crore, the highest in the category. While each of these bids were higher than what Star had bid, they eventually outbid the rest in the overall category to bag the overall rights.

It is understood that the BCCI scrapped the overall combined category as it expects to earn more if television and digital rights are sold separately. "These are just the base prices, which in itself is significantly higher than what was the highest bid in 2017. With e-auction in place for the first time in IPL history, it is hard to even think a number for which each category will be sold for. There is interest from across the globe," an IPL insider said.

Medvedev and Zverev reach quarterfinals

AFP @Miami

TOP seed Daniil Medvedev moved within one victory of reclaiming the world number one ranking by advancing to the ATP and WTA Miami Open quarterfinals, defeating American Jenson Brooksby 7-5, 6-1 on Tuesday. Australian Open runner-up Medvedev rallied from 3-5 down in the first set to win 10 of the last 11 games and advance after 80 minutes. A victory to reach the semifinals would move the 26-year-old Russian back into the top ranking on Monday after he surrendered the spot to Novak Djokovic. World No 4 Alexander Zverev's push to land his first title of the year moved a step closer as the German second seed reached the quarterfinals by beating Australian Thanasi Kokkinakis 6-4, 6-4. Kokkinakis, who along with compatriot Nick Kyrgios, won the Australian Open doubles title, appeared to struggle with a chest injury in the second set and Zverev moved through the gears when it mattered to set up an encounter with Norway's Casper Ruud for a place in the semifinals.

MOMENTUM WITH ENGLAND?

If one had said at the start of the WC that the defending champs would lose their first three games and win four on the trot to qualify, it would have been hard to believe. But, that's what they've done and with every game, they've gotten better, gaining some much-needed momentum in the lead up to the knockouts.

SUMMER OF SOPHIA

Sophia Dunkley was deemed as the find of the English summer last year and it seems like she's continued to own the Australian and New Zealand summers as well. Coming in under pressure situations, the 23-year-old has delivered almost every single time for England in the World Cup.

SHRUBSOLE VS LEE

Anya Shrubsole, rested for England's last league game, will be back for the semifinals as her inswingers are the most potent weapon against Lizelle Lee and Laura Wolvaardt in the powerplay as she did earlier in the WC. After all, it was Shrubsole, who broke South Africa's hearts with the bat in the 2017 semifinal.

INDIVIDUALS RISING TO OCCASION

One of the key trends for both England and South Africa so far is they are yet to have a collective performance as a team. Often it has been one individual or the other who stepped up. On Thursday, Heather Knight and Sune Luus would want to bring out their best show yet in the tournament.

Tributes pour in for Warne at memorial service

AP @Canberra

AN eclectic array of celebrities including singer Elton John, golfing legend Greg Norman and champion surfer Kelly Slater paid tribute on Wednesday to their friend, former Australian cricketer Shane Warne, at a star-studded state memorial service. More than 50,000 mourners chanted their hero's nickname "Warnie" at the outset of the service at the Melbourne Cricket Ground as they used to do when he took to the pitch for a match. It was his hometown pitch where he cemented his sporting legend in 2006 by becoming the first bowler in the world to take 700 test wickets.

Warne's death at a Thai resort of a suspected heart attack on March 4 at the age of 52 made headlines around the world. The pain was felt far beyond the cricket world. Tributes came from the fields of music, acting, business, golf, politics, surfing, comedy, poker and others. Elton John dedicated a rendition of "Don't Let the Sun Go Down on Me" to Warne's children — Brooke, Summer and Jackson — who were among the crowd that included Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison.

Gender-fluid jewellery seems to have made a statement at The Oscars, a trend that is now picking up pace in Bengaluru

FLUID FORWARD

ANILA KURIAN

As much as The Oscars is about the best-made movies, it's also the best place to catch the trendiest outfits. This year, bold statement pieces made their mark at the Academy Awards, especially with Call Me By Your Name actor Timothée Chalamet wearing a sparkly Louis Vuitton suit with a large, diamond-encrusted panther head necklace. This, once again, has brought to the spotlight gender-fluid jewellery.

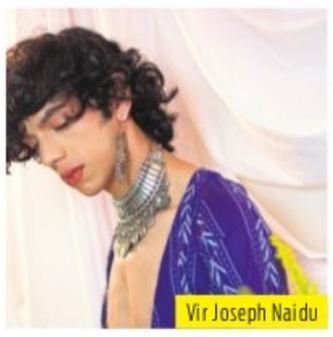
In namma ooru, fashionistas are exploring this possibility for everyday wear. Industrial design student Vir Joseph Naidu feels that jewellery is a great way to express one's personality. "My mom and I share a lot of jewellery and I've never received any flak for wearing it. In fact, my friends come over and ask for some of the rings or other jewellery items that I possess," he says.

Timothée Chalamet

Most stores have the jewellery offerings in the women's section which can steer away the men. "Thankfully, there are some fast-fashion brands that have now started creating unisex jewellery, so it's easier to go out there and purchase or get them online," adds Naidu.

Style curator Bia Sandhu Taneja finds more men taking to gender-fluid jewellery now. "It's strange that Indians find men wearing jewellery bizarre because if you look back in history, royal men loved their jewels. They wore it with elan. Somewhere along the line, it started to become women's accessories," she says, adding that recently a groom was keen to sport jewellery on his wedding day. "I've been noticing many others rocking the trend once again," adds Sandhu.

Bhavya Ramesh, who has an eponymous label, has always been about creating jewellery sans barriers. "There are characteristics I do consider while working on them, but I create pieces that anyone can embrace," she says, adding, "There is a sense of acceptance when it comes to this generation which is why we're able to bring back the style that has somewhere been forgotten. Bengaluru is forward-thinking and accepting of the people with different styles." Her pieces range between ₹3,000 and ₹15,000.



Vir Joseph Naidu

Large jewellery brands too are now exploring gender-fluid jewellery. In fact, the demand for it is steadily on the rise in India, believes Shyamala Ramanan, business head at Mia by Tanishq. "Gender fluidity goes beyond just pieces of jewellery and is today becoming a movement, whose expression is often aided by fashion as a device. We offer several non-binary pieces that are either size agnostic or can be ordered in a wide range of sizes to cater to everybody," she explains, adding that the brand has seen 25 and 40-year-old customers purchasing (prices starting at ₹4,000) the pieces.

Weighty issues

Two in three obese children will remain obese as adults and are at risk of lifestyle diseases

DR SREENATH MANIKANTI

WITH increasing per capita income and urbanisation, childhood obesity is now an epidemic in India. With 14 million obese children, India has the second-highest number of obese children in the world, next to China. The prevalence of overweight children is around 15 per cent. In private schools catering to upper-income families, the incidence has shot up to 36-40 per cent indicating a worrying upward trend.

Causes

The fundamental cause of childhood obesity is an imbalance between the amount of calories consumed and energy spent. Indians are genetically predisposed to obesity. However, the increase in childhood obesity is largely due to environmental influences. Economic prosperity leads to a change in diet from traditional to 'modern' foods, rich in sugar and fat. Smartphone revolution and rapid rise of food-delivery apps makes it very easy for children and parents to avail readily available foods, rich in sugar and fat. Urbanisation and digital revolution leads to an increase in sedentary lifestyles and a decrease in physical activity. The current Covid pandemic made things worse for children.

Health Implications

Childhood obesity has serious health implications. Obese children are at increased risk of Type-2 Diabetes, high cholesterol, hypertension, osteoarthritis, coronary heart disease, stroke, gallbladder disease, respiratory problems, behavioural issues and some cancers. Two in three obese children will remain obese as adults and are at risk of lifestyle diseases.

PREVENTION

Increase intake of fruits and vegetables and drink sufficient amount of water

Reduce screen time. Eating while watching TV is a major cause of excess food consumption. TV ads/ commercials lead children towards fast foods

Reduce sugar intake. Sugar is now called the new 'tobacco' and must be restricted. Water is encouraged instead of sweetened drinks.

Encourage physical activity. It is difficult to ensure active lives in children, due to limited time and academics. Parents need to facilitate physical activity in young children and daily vigorous physical activity in older children.

SUNSCREEN AND SUMMER

As temperatures soar, it's time for a change in skincare routine, pulling to the frontline the frequently discussed but infrequently used skincare item - sunscreen

DR JANET ALEXANDER CASTELINO

THE benefits of a good sunscreen are still quite underestimated by many of us who assume it is used only to prevent a suntan. However, dermatologists all over the world swear by it, in order to significantly prevent photoaging, skin wrinkling, and sunburn.

Physical sunscreens like zinc oxide and titanium dioxide build a barrier on the skin's surface, reflecting away the sun's harmful UV rays.

While easy to use and efficient, a purely physical sunscreen isn't preferred because it leaves a whitish cast on the skin that may not be very cosmetically pleasing. A chemical sunscreen like avobenzone and oxybenzone, on the other hand, is made up of organic filters that protect the skin from the sun.

The commonly referenced 'SPF' or sun protection factor is a measure of a sunscreen's UVB protection. For example, an SPF of 30 means that your skin will take 30 times longer to get sunburnt if you apply sunscreen than if you don't. Although UVB rays are vital to protect your skin, UVA rays account for a major portion of the sun's rays. Thus it is the 'PA factor' on the label of your sunscreen that will tell you how well it protects you from sun tanning caused by UVA radiation.

It is suggested that '2mg' of sunscreen must be applied for adequate protection. To achieve this practically, the 'teaspoon' rule, which recommends that a teaspoon of sunscreen is required for the face and neck, or the '2 finger rule', which states that the quantity of product that glides onto the length of two fingers is needed to be applied to each section of the body, is advised. After 3-5 minutes, a second layer of sunscreen can optionally be applied to ensure that any areas that were missed are covered.

If one is outside, reapply sunscreen every two hours because sweat, oil, and sebum erode at the protective layer. While going swimming, it's best to use a "water-resistant" sunscreen and exit the pool after 40 minutes to reapply it. It's vital to remember that no sunscreen is truly "waterproof," and that reapplication is a must. Also, for those of us who are staying indoors this summer, sunscreen is still recommended because UVA rays notoriously penetrate through windows!

When used properly, a good sunscreen has a lot to offer, while those who use it improperly may not be able to reap its full benefits. With this being said, it's certainly advisable to consult with your dermatologist, in order to choose the right sunscreen for your skin.

WHO calls for quality care for women, newborns

The World Health Organization recently launched its first global guidelines to support women and newborns in the postnatal period. Worldwide, more than three in 10 women and babies do not currently receive postnatal care in the first days after birth - the period when most maternal and infant deaths occur. The physical consequences of childbirth - from injuries to recurring pain and trauma - can be debilitating if unmanaged but are often highly treatable when the right care is given at the right time. "The need for quality maternity and newborn care does not stop once a baby is born," said Dr Anshu Banerjee, working at WHO. – IANS

'HOME MINISTER IS RELEVANT FOR THIS TIME AND AGE'

...says Upendra, who talks about his upcoming entertainer, which will cater to all audiences and especially to all women out there

A SHARADHAA

Upendra in a still from Home minister

NEARLY three years after the release of I Love You, Upendra is back to entertain the audience with Home Minister, which is set to hit theatres this Friday ahead of Ugadi festival. And in Uppi's own words, Sujay K Srihari's directorial is entertaining with witty elements catering to all kinds of audiences. "Though the release has been delayed, this subject is more relevant now because people have first-hand experience of staying indoors during the lockdown and working from home," he says.

Accompanying him in this entertainer is Vedhika, who plays the female lead along with Tanya Hope and Chandini playing pivotal roles. The film has Uppi in a new role. The actor referring to the title Home Minister says the tag is apt for 'women'. "Women are multitaskers who can handle so many responsibilities. Not that men don't have the efficiency, but in this case, they can't be like women," he says.

"There is a reason for the protagonist to behave the way he does. There is a backstory for him, and my character in the lady get up will unravel interesting facts. It all ends with an extraordinary climax," says Uppi, who adds that donning a 'lady' get up for the film was most challenging for him in Home Minister. "If a subject like Home Minister can make for a thorough entertainment, and will be a double dhamaka provided it gets all the attention of all the women out there," he says.

Upendra, being a director himself, chooses unique subjects for the actor in him. "It was nice to have a director and producers from the Telugu industry come down and do a Kannada film. As a director, Sujay's idea about the story was different which he has presented with style. He has understood the subject, and that helped him to pull off the film well. Having said that as a director and actor, I prefer to go with films which will be a paisa vasool for the audience," he says.

Home Minister, backed by S Poorna Chandra Naidu and Srikanth Veeramachineni, has Ghibran scoring music for the film and Kunjunni S Kumar handling the camerawork.

SHREYAS TALPADE ON JOURNEY FROM IQBAL TO KAUN PRAVIN TAMBE?:

HAPPY TO RETURN AS A PLAYER, NOT COACH

SHILAJIT MITRA

17 years ago, Shreyas Talpade broke out as a deaf and mute cricketer in Iqbal. The film, directed by Nagesh Kukunoor, told of a Muslim village boy and his aspiration to play for the national team. It's still widely talked about, and is seen as the highlight of Shreyas' career, much of it consumed with mainstream Hindi comedies in later years. That is, up until this Friday. His latest, Kaun Pravin Tambe?, is about the determined Mumbai cricketer who, at the unbelievable age of 41, made his IPL debut. Pravin is played onscreen by Shreyas, who returns to both cricket and gritty dramatic roles with the film.

"After Iqbal, I had auditioned for a comedy film and was rejected," Shreyas chuckles. "I was told I had a 'serious' image. Ironically, I got to a point where I am now known for comedies and it's a challenge to get back to dramas."

The story of Pravin Tambe, Shreyas says, resonated with him deeply. Born and raised in Mumbai, Pravin transitioned from fast to spin bowling while struggling to hold down a job. Family responsibilities bound him to the local club circuit. He was named in the Mumbai Ranji probables but was not drafted. Finally, after a decade's anonymity, he made his IPL debut in 2013, under then Rajasthan Royals skipper Rahul Dravid.

"Pravin's age factor was always a problem with selectors," Shreyas says. "He hated that. So what if someone is 35 or 40? If they can perform, they should be allowed to play."

For prep, Shreyas had long sessions with Pravin, learning his bowling action and mannerisms on field. The actor mulled putting on weight but decided against it (he's playing Pravin from his 20s through 42). YouTube highlights show a smiling, expressive, highly animated player—"When you are appealing for a wicket, you don't care about looks." Most important, though, was capturing the wheezy optimism that Pravin represents. "He can come across as naïve about certain things," Shreyas says. "He genuinely believes that age is just a number."

Shooting was another matter. Shreyas was 30 when he played the 18-year-old Iqbal. Now 47, his body reeled from the exacting regimen of the game. Once, he injured his knee bowling in spikes and could not run. Nevertheless, he powered through, much like his character. "A great deal of the action in the film is natural. It was a delight taking wickets on my own. The supporting actors were all cricketers."

The film's comment on ageism isn't limited to cricket alone. Shreyas points out that, were it not for Pravin Tambe's story, he would be playing a coach by now. "Iqbal coach ban gaya! (Iqbal has become a coach) is usually the norm. I am so happy I got to return as a player."

Kaun Pravin Tambe? releases on Disney+ Hotstar on April 1.
